Basic Build

Before you get invested in the detail of the building its important to establish the basic build first.

The basic build sets up the buildings main structure. Do not outline the shape of the building but think about how the building is constructed. Also consider using one line that then will be segmented with the scissors or add anchor point tool. This will save time, give a true continuous line and, when on perspective, the proper angles. Look for rows of window that will benefit from using one line.
